

The Gates Amphitheater

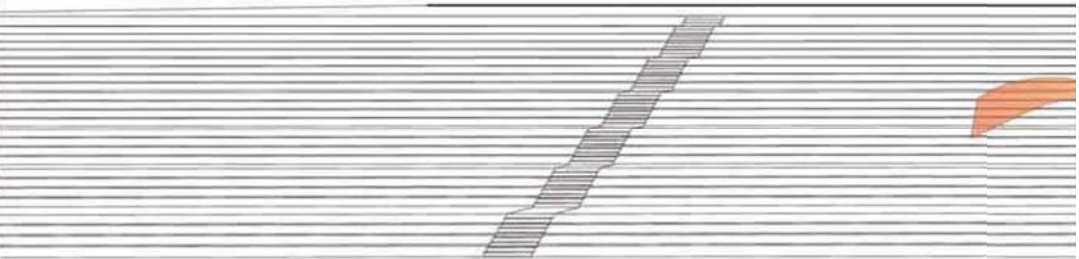

Frazier-Jelke Amphitheater Rhodes College

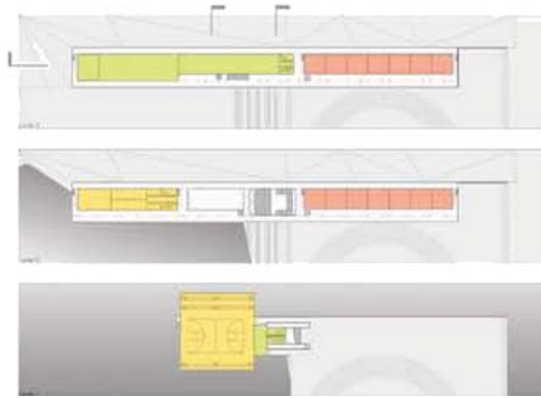

Phillis Wheatly Elementary School

Parker High School

In order to respond to the gently rolling hills of Albion NE this new high school design not only embraces these hills but exaggerates them in a way that pulls people into the building. In addition enhancing the approach up to the building this site cultivation serves two other purposes, a large scale retaining and stadium seating.

Another aspect of this school is the double skin system that allows for large break out spaces that allow for a more flexible teaching environment on the south side of the building while the circulation corridor is located to the north.
