UVA Architecture
Albion, begin fall

Albion and Boone County
"studio" this semester
professor Martin Deshpande of his architecture students.

The students made their to the area last Wednesday 26, and will be coming back for "on site" work in the months.

The area will be a case-student research in several including learning about the history.

"Students will be challenge think about the future community as if they were living here and viewed this home," said professor
"We like this community to make it better because"
